FOAM OF THE ATLANTIC WAVE.

Poetry and Music by SAMUEL LOVER.

ANDANTE, Spiritoso e Grazioso.

PIANO

FORTE.

I know a form sur-passing all ... That beauty e'er to woman gave,

And that sweet form I fondly call My Foam of the Atlantic wave! The swelling grace of ev'ry mo-tion Be-trays the birth such beauty gave, Another Ve-nus from the o-cean, My Foam of the At-lan-tic wave! My sparkling foam, My sparkling foam, My Foam of the At-lan-tic wave!

Sweet Foam of the At-lan-tic water, If e-ver storm disturb thy rest, Thy spray-like spirit beautys daughter Shall rise above each billows crest: Howe-ver deep the woes that wound thee, Still o'er the depth thy spirit brave Shall fringe with brightness all a-round thee, My Foam of the At-lan-tic wave! My sparkling foam, My sparkling foam, My Foam of the At-lan-tic

wave!

But if a pray'r of deep devótion, Might lull the storms of life's rude sea,

May calm and sunshine rule the o--cean That yet is all untraced by thee; For far beyond the pearls that slumber. . . In richest depth of ocean's cave Thy sparkling charms can their's out-number, . . . My Foam of the Atlan-tic wave! My

wave!

And when to dis-tant shores re-treating, On some lone cliff I'll silent stand And mark th'At-lan-tic bil-low beat-ing In foam upon my na-tive land; I'll think of thee with fond devo-tion And in the name my pas-sion gave, Waft thee a sigh a--cross the o--cean, My Foam of the At--lan--tic wave! My sparkling foam, My sparkling foam, My Foam of the At--lan--tic wave!
